Saturday 18.05.2013

Saturday started with the welcoming speech of the president of the Bucovina Guides Association, Ciprian Constantineanu, the project coordinator, Nicoleta Loghin and our special guest Nicoleta Robciuc. Also, the members of the teams that will work together during the 2 days of activities were presented.

Next, it was discussed about the implementation of the project and the stage at which it is now, and also, about the finished and future final product.

Maria Cristina Turola and Maria Kavouri from AIM Network, Italy, explained to us the importance of a good implementation of the project and how can this be made. Also, AIM Network, presented the structure of the questionnaire, the importance of some good questions, the problems that can occur during the implementation and during the creation of the final report of the questionnaire. A very important aspect that was highlighted by the Italy team is about the interpretation of the questionnaire which must be realized based on the received answers and how we can do this, especially in the case of the open questions.

At the invitation of Nicoleta Robciu, we tried to define the term "old age person". The participants presented their opinion regarding the age at which a man can be called an: old aged person" and the age at which a person can be called "young". As a result, it was decided that we refer to old when the person is above 60 and to young when the person is under 30. Moreover, we talked about the number of questionnaires that should be implemented. The Italy and turkey members suggested a number of 50 questionnaires for each age group, meaning 100 in total. For the implementation and the interpretation it was set a deadline, 15th of June. The Italian team will be responsible of the final report of the questionnaires. The final results and the comparisons between the 4 countries will be presented in September, during the meeting form Turkey. As a result, it was decided that the next meeting will take place in Bolu, Turkey.

An attractive point of the meeting was the presentation about the quality of life questionnaire (contents and results) by Mesut Arabaciglu from Turkey and Maria Cristina Turola from Italy. They talked about the differences of the principles, activities and passions between the two generations.

This meeting was organized in the meeting room of the Sport and Teenagers center, Suceava.

According to the agenda, the next activities took place at the Promotion of the traditions from Bucovina center, where the participants visit the workshops accommodated here: traditional New Year masks, Easter egg painting, traditional clothing, leather and wood crafts, clay pottery, icon painting. This was a good occasion for our guests to see demonstrations in working with the wood and ceramics and to see traditional tools. The participants could see the steps needed in the creation of a ceramic object, until the burning step, could observe the composition of the materials, the instruments used and then, the final form. This was a good opportunity to find more about the importance of perpetuating these traditions.

The activities at the center were coordinated by Nicoleta Robciuc and Nicoleta Loghin.

After the visit to the center was over, we continued the activities in the meeting room in order to give new tasks and set deadlines. Therefore, it was decided that the Greek team will be responsible for the E-portfolio and the digital literacy, the Turkey team will realize the report for the dissemination of the project, the Italian team will do the analysis of the result of the questionnaires and will do the comparison between the results from the 4 countries and the Romanian team will centralize the result of the evaluations made after each meeting. All these will be accomplished step by step, regarding the number of the meetings, the results of each team being presented in the next meeting in Turkey.
