LEARNERS REPORT

This mobility was something new for most of us. For some: the first flight, the first time leaving the country and for some, first time speaking in English at this level. The theme of the project is extremely up to date and of a large interest nowadays, eliminating that "generation gap" of which people are talking about.

The hosting was excellent, and the place, Ferrara, was of a real beauty. For us, the place of a maximum attraction was Venice, with its undisputable charm.

Teodorescu Constantin-Emanuel – Ferrara, Italy, December 2012

During the journey in Romania we discovered a very different reality . Some of their customs and traditions, such as horse-drawn carts on national roads, have definitively been lost in our country. Even the work of the fields is very different from Italy: we are very automated while in Hungary and Romania are working a lot with the arms.

All participants in the meeting were very welcoming and friendly, the Romanian partners had perfectly organized the working days and the visit to the monasteries of Bucovina, making me enjoy beautiful buildings and a palpable piety of the Romanian people.

Luciana Panara,- Suceava, Romania, May 2013

HEARTS

LEARNERS REPORT

The beautiful part in this project was that people from different countries have the chance to discuss and exchange impressions about the way of life and social life of their countries.

In this project I liked the way the activities were made, punctuality and seriousness. The group was great, we have an excellent cooperation, I met new people, a thing that I like it, to discover other people, to expand my circle of friends.

Alexandru Ursu, Bolu, October 2013

This trip was a different experience for me in terms of seeing a new country which I had never been. Greece was a historical and ancient place. The people were really helpful towards foreigners. We had a good time there and I met lots of new friends. I am very happy for being a part of this Project as a participant. This is a good memory for me to tell my children during my life.

Semihanur Serin – Tripoli, Greece, March 2014

HEARTS

LEARNERS REPORT

The climate of the interior of a European project has been very interesting and hope to participate again or contribute to create another project. Then we visit all together Mycenae a very important archeological site, dated 40 centuries and we saw the Mycenaean Tholos tombs and their treasures. I would like one more time say thank to AIMNetwork that they choose me, to Greek partners that they arranged a so interesting meeting and the Grundtvig European projects for this big opportunity."

Giuseppe Torrisi – Tripoli, Greece – April 2014

The host partner – Italian friends- welcomed us very warm and helpful to us. Also we met the Romanian friends. They spoke with us very closely as if we knew each other long before. We talked about our cultures, life styles, and hobbies etc. This conversation was a very useful warm-up for the tomorrow meeting. On the first day we visited a center for the aged people called – IL MELO – we saw how they spend their time efficiently and usefully.

Ismail YAHSI – Ferrara, Italy, December 2012

Learning
Programme

We are four organizations from Romania, Italy, Greece and Turkey which want to take a step to a better knowledge of the culture and the heritage of each of these countries by perpetuating them from generation to generation. During a period of two years we will act as a team, we will work together in order to fulfil the aims of this project and finally, to bring more unity in Europe. This is the aim of the European countries. This is our aim!

A people without the knowledge of their past history,
